Chinese Index Figures Attacked

Shanghai, Sept. 28. The Chinese National Government's cost of living index for September—figures on which wages and salaries are determined each month—was today branded as "fictitious."

Employees accused the Government of intentionally holding down the index, irrespective of the actual conditions.

The September index for salaried employees was raised only 15.3 per cent, and for labourers only 10.9 per cent, over the previous month in the face of an increase of nearly 50 per cent in the actual cost of living during September.

The employees pointed out that rice, China's first essential, jumped 22 per cent during the month, despite the fact that September is harvest month.

The price of rice is usually the barometer for prices of other Chinese commodities.

Rice at the beginning of the month sold for CN$40,000 per picul retail, which is equivalent to 133 pounds.

Today's price is CN$60,000 per picul.

Dollar "Leap"

The Government's official "open" rate on American dollars leaped 21 per cent and the blackmarket money rate jumped 37 per cent during the month.

The "open" rate stood at CN$38,500 to US$1.00 on September 1. Today's rate is CN$46,500 to US$1.00.

The blackmarket rate was around CN$46,000 to US$1.00 at the beginning of the month, now it hit the 63,000 to 1 mark.

Meanwhile, CNRRA confirmed today the resignation of Director General P.H. Ho.

Informed sources said Premier Chang Chun was not likely to accept the resignation, despite the fact that Ho said illness prevented him from cop-

Free-For-All At Kowloon

A free-for-all took place at the Kowloon Hotel at 9:30 p.m. and lasted until 10:30 p.m. yesterday as the result of a brawl between a Russian Anti-Piracy Guard of the S/A Wo Sang and the headwaiter of the hotel.

It was alleged that the guard and his friend were having a "fool around" in the dining room when they were asked to allow the headwaiter, carrying a tray of drinks, to pass.

Apparently objecting to being so addressed, the guard upset the tray and swung a blow at the waiter, it was reported.

A general melee ensued and was not settled until the arrival of the Military Police and Police from Tsim Sha Tsui Land Division.

Damage to the value of $100 was reported.

PEIPING POLICE RAID PRIVATE DANCES

Peiping, Sept. 28. Armed police, in a debatable interpretation of Nanking's austerity decrees, last night stopped dancing at the wedding of a Chinese general fresh from the battlefield.

They later interrupted dancing at a private all-foreign party at which half the guests were Americans, British and Frenchmen with diplomatic status.

Both incidents occurred at the British-owned Wagons-Lits Hotel. After breaking up the wedding party, police, armed with mauls, intervened at a private buffet dinner dance in honour of a Hong Kong Englishwoman.

An Indian woman, mistaken for a Chinese, was summarily ordered to leave. She did so without argument.

Later responsible Municipal officials permitted the dancing, but police came again into the room at 11 p.m. the deadline for the closure of public amusement places and gave the signal for the orchestra to stop playing.

The host said he had notified the police earlier in the day that it was a private party and had named all the guests.

He was ordered to report at the police station the following morning for interrogation.

American, British and French guests said they would report the incident to their respective consulates in Peiping for their embassies in Nanking to handle.

PAKISTAN APPEALS TO EMPIRE FOR MORE AID

Gandhi Backs Down On "War" Warning

London, Sept. 28. The Pakistan Government has officially appealed to Britain and the other Dominions, including India, for help in solving the present communal problem, it was authoritatively learned tonight.

There was, however, no confirmation of the suggestions reaching London to the effect that Pakistan has asked her sister nations for military aid in dealing with the situation.

The position, according to official quarters, is that the Government of Pakistan recently asked the London Government to communicate to the Governments of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, as well as India, the Pakistan Government's concern as to ways and means of resolving the present serious difficulties.

The United Kingdom Government informed the Dominion Governments to this effect.

It has now been received and the Governments concerned the considered views of the Government of India on the situation.

An exchange of views is proceeding among all the Governments involved.

Beyond the broad indication outlined, British official quarters at this stage were unable to comment upon the development or to indicate either the reactions of the Dominion of India, the other Dominions, or of the United Kingdom Government.

Gandhi

In New Delhi, Gandhi said in a meeting last night that his talk of war between Hindustan and Pakistan was only of a remote possibility and that he personally would never advocate war.

The authorised version of his remarks at a prayer meeting said: "The newspaper displayed his remarks about war in such a way that there was inquiry from Calcutta as to whether he advocated war."

"He is wedded to nonviolence at all time and could never advocate war."

"A State run by him there would be no police, no military."

but he is not running the Government of the Indian Union. He merely pointed out the various possibilities.

"India and Pakistan should settle their differences by mutual consultations and failing that fall back on arbitration. But if one party persisted in wrong-doing and would accept neither way, the only way left open was that of war."

Gandhi's talk on Friday was also publicized through the authorized version of his remark, which said he believed India might "have to go to war" if Pakistan "failed to accept the 'proven error' in the treatment of Hindus and Sikhs."

Assurances

Government assurances that its censorship of foreign press messages has been in force or was contemplated were given today when Lord Mountbatten, Governor General of India, met the standing committee of the Foreign Correspondents' Association at Government House.

Pandit Nehru, India's Prime Minister, and Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Minister for Home Affairs, Information and Broadcasting, were present with the Governor General.

A press communique from Government House said: "In response to representations that the work of correspondents and photographers had been hampered in some cases, due to the public belief that general criticism of them had been officially made, it was stated on behalf of the Government that this was a misapprehension."

"Official criticism has been directed only against certain reports and not against foreign correspondents as a whole."

"An agreement was reached for the maintenance of proper liaison between the Government and the foreign correspondents and for the handling of any specific complaint that might arise."

"Cholera"

Associated Press reports that Cholera has broken out in some refugee camps although it has officially been reported brought under control.

Camp officials, pointing to the conditions of filth and malnutrition in which tens of thousands live while making their marches, say it is inevitable there has been no frightful pestilence and that the danger of such an outbreak is still acute.

Official figures say that 1,700,000 refugees already have moved from Pakistan to India, from which an equal number are moving in the opposite direction.

While the vast movement continues, official reports confirm daily mob attacks on the refugees with shocking losses.—Reuter, United Press & Associated Press.

The high pressure over N. China is intensifying and a ridge of high pressure now extends SE from it to Formosa. The low pressure centred over Chungking is slowly filling up and the depression over Korea is moving NE into the Sea of Japan. A shallow ridge of high pressure covers the Philippines.

CHURCHILL MAKES FIERY ATTACK ON SOVIET

London, Sept. 28. Mr. Winston Churchill, wartime Prime Minister of Britain, last night endorsed the United States stand against Soviet military power, in a speech to 5,000 cheering Conservatives at an open air Conservative Party rally in his constituency of Woodford.

"This great confrontation by Europe and America, foiled by the United States of militant Communism backed by Soviet military power has been brought about almost entirely by aggression and intrigues of the Soviet Government in all countries on their borders and by their attempts to paralyze the working of the United Nations Organization, on which all our hopes were founded, by the brutal use of the veto."

"I am very glad to be able to give our full support to the United States in the great efforts she is making to preserve freedom and democracy in Europe."

He said, "The dollars represent toll and skill and self-denial of millions of American wage earners, which they are contributing of their own free will in most cases without the hope of repayment to help their fellow men in misfortune across the ocean."

Mr. Churchill, blamed Russia for the "shameful murder" of Nikola Petkov, Bulgarian Socialist leader, who was executed in Sofia earlier this week.

"Murder"

"This crime is a measure of the ruthless cruelty with which Communist minorities, once they have captured the government machinery, treat their political opponents," he said.

"There can be doubt that the prime responsibility for this measure lies with the Soviet Government."

"There is no doubt that it was intended to give a lesson to countries of Eastern Europe which have fallen into the Soviet grasp. It was intended to show them what will be the fate of any public figures, however popular or honourable they are, who venture to oppose by constitutional means puppet governments which the Soviets have created everywhere."

"Decline And Fall"

Mr. Churchill also excoriated the Labour Government for Britain's "decline and fall" as a world power.

"What German U-boats could never do to us has been achieved by the mismanagement of our misguided fellow countrymen—now our rulers—through their hordes of additional officials, through thousands of forms and through their gross misconduct of our affairs, large and small," Mr. Churchill said.

He said, "But what has happened so far is only a foretaste of what is to come. Under Socialism, with all its crippling of enterprise and all its interference in daily life, it will not be possible, I should imagine, for more than two-thirds of our present population to live in this island."

Mr. Churchill said, "When I recall where we stood at the victorious end of the war and compare it with the present state of affairs, I am filled with a sense of despair."

He said, "I am filled with a sense of despair."

Staff Clean-Up In Hopei

WARLORDS TO GO?

Peiping, Sept. 28.

Central Government authorities today continued tearing into the staff structure of General Sun Lien-chung, military commander and Governor of Hopei Province, in what is interpreted as part of the Nanking policy to replace the old-styled warlord Governors with "strong men" of its own.

Coming on the heels of Dr. T.V. Soong's surprise appointment to the Kwantung governorship, the arrest of two key figures at General Sun Lien-chung's military headquarters widened into a hunt for another of General Sun's aides.

Informed sources said General Wang, Number Two man on General Sun's Political Planning Board, eluded arrest and went into hiding.

The Chinese press carried no hint of yesterday's arrest of General Yu Hsin-ching, chief of the Political Planning Board and General Hsieh Sze-yen, head of the military personnel section, but some quarters said they might be charged with "corruption."

Strike

Meanwhile, Half Shanghai remained without trams and buses today as some 3,000 motormen, conductors and employees of the French Tram Company, despite official threats of "drastic action," refused to return to work unless their demands for wage increase and CN$500,000 loan were granted.

The leaders of the tram workers union, one of the most powerful in Shanghai, kept an all-night vigil at their headquarters last night when they heard of the intention of the city authorities to arrest them as Communist agents.

A union spokesman has announced that all members of the union would offer to be arrested if any one of their men should be apprehended.

Mayor K.C. Wu told a press conference that the strike was instigated by "insurgent elements" and that the authorities were prepared to take "drastic measures" to deal with the trouble.—United Press and Reuter.

Two Key Hopei Generals Arrested In Dawn Raids

Peiping, Sept. 27. The Central Government authorities yesterday arrested two key figures in General Sun Lien-chung's Hopei military headquarters in pre-dawn raids on their residence.

They were Gen. Yu Hsin-chung, chief of Gen. Sun's Political Planning Board, and Gen. Hsieh Sze-yen, head of the Military Personnel Section. Political observers here interpreted the move as a further tightening of Central Government control in the North China civil war zone and eliminating those elements which have not shown the most enthusiastic support of Nanking's war effort.

General Yu was a well-known figure in Peiping's so-called liberal circles. He also had many foreign friends. He was an avid tennis player at the Peking Club where he held membership.

Fifteen years ago, Yu represented the Christian General, Feng Yuxiang in the Fokien People's Government of Marshal Li Chi-sen, now one of Nanking's most ardent critics in Hong Kong.

The arrests are viewed by Peiping observers as a part of the same "get tough" policy which sent Chief of Staff General Chen Cheng to Manchuria and placed T. V. Soong as Governor of Kwangtung. Further evidence of this policy is expected in Gen. Sun's Fanchien area where enthusiasm for civil war has never reached a high pitch.—United Press.

Another Increase In German Epidemic Of Polio

Berlin, Sept. 28. The return of the hot weather today ended hopes of harassed German doctors and American poliomyelitis experts that the current epidemic would cease.

Several days of cool weather and rain spurred hopes that the epidemic would run its course shortly but Berlin health officials today reported another substantial increase in the number of children and adults afflicted with poliomyelitis, raising the total number of known cases to 1,313 and the death toll to 114.

Health officials reported 40 new cases and five more deaths in the last 24 hours. Five iron lungs sent by air from the United States to two German hospitals in the American sector are working day and night to save advance victims from strangulation. German medical teams trained by American polio experts are supervising the machines in relay and the death toll would have been substantially higher today but for the iron lungs.

Iron Lung

The rapid spread of the epidemic caused American experts to order two more iron lungs from the United States in the hope of rescuing more afflicted persons than the five machines in operation can deal with.

FILM TAKINGS AID T.B. FUND

Ten per cent of the total takings of "Piccadilly Incident" is to be donated to the Anti-Tuberculosis Association. This will represent the entire financial interest in the picture of Mr. H. Odell, Managing Director of International Films, Ltd., through whom Pathe Pictures are releasing "Piccadilly Incident" in Hong Kong.

Screening of the picture will begin simultaneously on Friday next at King's and Majestic theatres. The story of "Piccadilly Incident" is built around the chance meeting of two people one dark night in 1941—a meeting that ultimately leads to a most stirring domestic drama. The stars include Anna Neagle, Michael Wilding, Frances Mercer, Coral Browne, A. E. Matthews and Edward Rigby.

"WALLY" IS BEING RECEIVED

London, Sept. 28.

The Duke of Windsor's unflinching loyalty to his American-born wife is beginning to crack the social ostracism which has barred the Duchess of Windsor from her rightful place in British society for a decade.

Ever since he abdicated the throne to marry her, the Duke has refused to attend any function at which his Duchess would not be welcome.

Because of this he would not attend the birthday party of his mother, Queen Mary.

Because of this he will not attend the wedding of his favorite niece, Princess Elizabeth, on November 20.

But the British public is slowly mobilizing behind the man they will always call "Eddie."

Already two influential British newspapers have strongly recommended that the Duchess be invited to the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

This would have hardly been possible even a few years ago when resentment over the Baltimore divorce's intrusion into the sacred succession to the throne was bitter to the point of violence.

Since her marriage, the former Wallis Warfield has been ostracized as the only well-born British known-how. She has been ignored at times and at others reference to her title has been offered in a manner not far from insult.

She has never been invited to the homes of the Royal family and, in fact, was pointedly not raised to Royal Highness by King George, which would otherwise have been almost a routine since her husband was an aristocrat.

Through it all, the dignity of her demeanour won the Duchess cautious friendliness from the British public. Nowhere else are she not longer jeered. Rather, women comment on her ability to remain as chic and attractive at 50 as she was more than 10 years ago.

The Sunday Pictorial today in a front page article allies itself with the Evening Standard in suggesting that the Duchess be received into the Royal Family as befits the wife of its members.—United Press.

MacArthur Report On Japs

Tokyo, Sept. 28.

General MacArthur, in his occupation report for July released today, said the Japanese people "forged ahead with their programmes for political and social reforms while coping with economic problems and low production resulting from war destruction and shortage of raw materials."

The report pointed out that, while the Japanese Cabinet appealed to every citizen in a appeal, "White Paper" to help overcome economic difficulties, further progress was achieved in the land reform programme, in the effort to eliminate ultra-Nationalists from public life, implementation of the new constitutional changes, in reform of the judiciary and civil code and in improvement of the education system.—United Press.

"Reds Back Jews"

The "Daily Mail" in a frontpage article today reported that, according to official British investigation, Soviet authorities are deliberately encouraging Jewish emigration to Palestine from Eastern Europe.

A dispatch from Hamburg said British investigators who questioned Jews from the refugee ship "Exodus" at a camp near Hamburg, concluded that the Soviet authorities hoped to embarrass the British by encouraging homeless Jews to leave Eastern Europe for the Anglo-American zone as the surest route to Palestine.—United Press.

Letters From Readers

T.B. Campaign

Sir,—Being a professional man it is with great reluctance that I have to write you this letter.

At the request of friends and well-wishers of the I.K. Anti-Tuberculosis Association, on me has been put the duty of replying to the letter of the Hon. Dr. S. N. Chai in your esteemed paper of the 26th inst.

Just before the outbreak of the Pacific war, I was invited to read a paper on Tuberculosis by the Hong Kong Medical Association, Hong Kong Branch. In this paper, a copy of which I showed to your reporter, I put down my impressions of works, findings, discussions and suggestions pertaining to Tuberculosis in China and Hong Kong, gathered from the year 1934 onwards as President of the Chinese Tuberculosis Society (being the Tuberculosis Section of the Chinese Medical Association, China) and as Hon. Secretary of the I.K. Anti-T.B. Association. In this paper I described the findings obtained from the Violet Peel Health (Wanchai) Anti-T.B. Clinic run for the I.K. Anti-T.B. Association. As far I know, there is now no Wanchai Anti-T.B. Clinic. The Anti-T.B. Clinic at the Harcourt Medical Centre, Hong Kong, is indeed a Government Clinic. But it is also true, I am obliged to state, that I did staff it with an arm and equip it with a Pneumothorax apparatus and the more easily-obtained pneumothorax needles in the name of the I.K. Anti-T.B. Association but at my own expense.

Re the Naval Hospital: "After some discussions it was agreed that the present prospects of being able to take over the Wanchai Hospital, the Association would be justified in approaching the Public in general with a view to collecting money on the understanding that the Hospital or Sanatorium materialized." (Minutes, Standing Committee 10th July, 1947).

Re relations between Government and the Association: "The Acting Chairman (Mr. C. G. Solis) wound up the meeting by reminding the Sub-Committee (Sociological) that the association was never intended to take over work which should be done by Government, but merely to shame Government into doing this work." (Minutes, Sociological Sub-Committee, 6th November, 1940).

"The President suggested that Health Visitors (done in England by district nurses) were now needed to assist Miss Helen Jiu in Anti-Tuberculosis work, and after some discussion, it was agreed that the Honorary Secretary should approach Miss Watson to obtain views on the best way to approach this problem." (Minutes, Standing Committee, 10th July, 1947).

Re Tuberculosis Death Rate: I stated in my paper the following:

	Per 100,000 population.
New Zealand	33
Denmark	40
U.S.A.	68
Great Britain	69
Japan	230
China	240
Hong Kong	359

Of the diseases which take toll of the Hong Kong population, the most damaging is tuberculosis. This disease is a world-wide menace and is one of the most common causes of death in the world.

Meanwhile, in Athens, Representative John Tabor of New York told reporters today that he feared that the carrying-out of the Marshall plan might leave the United States "out on a limb" when it finished—as a target for Russia.

Tabor, who is en route to Trieste to investigate the American aid programme for himself, said: "I am sure that the Marshall plan will be a great success, but I am sure that the United States will be a target for Russia."

INDONESIA "PEACE" REPORT

Batavia, Sept. 28.

The Indonesia "peace makers" of the United Nations Committee, composed of representatives of Australia, Belgium and the United States, are expected to begin work soon.

The report of the six nation Consultative Commission investigating the "cease fire" observance by the Dutch and the Republic, may be used by the three nation committee as a basis for settling the Indonesian dispute.

The Consults returned here by air today from Jogjakarta, the Republican capital, with important information.

The Consults, instructed by the United Nations Security Council, started on their report at the beginning of September.

They flew to Jogjakarta for 24 hours yesterday to seek information from Republican leaders on the military situation.

Location They asked about the location of Republican and Dutch troops when the "cease fire" was ordered, their location now, and how the order was interpreted. They also inquired about their general situation.

The Indonesians were questioned about conditions in their territory, whether there was inflation, whether the Republicans had ordered reprisals against anyone co-operating with the Dutch, and about measures taken for the safety of foreign communities.

Dr. Amir Sjaifuddin expected the final Consults report to be favourable to the Republic, it was reported here.

The Consults are to have an interview with the Dutch authorities here on Monday, at which they will ask similar questions.

The late arrival of the United States officer, observers say, delay the completion of the Consults Commission's "cease fire" report for the Security Council, it was learned today.—Reuter.

be grateful if the Hon. Mr. S. N. Chai would give me information regarding the T.B. death rate for 1946, and his expert opinion on its reliability and his deductions. I shall be glad to receive further information if given and to give further information, if required.

T. P. WU.

Phone "Times"

Sir,—I am not usually given to complaining, but here is a query for the Hong Kong Telephone Company.

Last evening, I was in the office rather late, I looked at the clock to see the time, and found it had stopped. I dialled 90 and asked the operator if he would kindly tell me the time. He replied saying he was very sorry but the Manager had given instructions that the time was not to be given. The operator waited quite five minutes putting me into contact with the Supervisor, by giving the time, he would have saved at least four minutes, so the reason surely can not be that it is a waste of time for the Company, to do that service for its subscribers. Any way the subscribers should surely be informed when such a thing happens. What has Mr. Sherry to say about it?

Major Discrepancy In Withdrawal Terms For Korea

Seoul, Sept. 28.

A major discrepancy was discovered today in the translation of the Russian proposal that the American and Soviet occupation forces be withdrawn from Korea.

The official Russian translation, read in the presence of American newsmen, said, the Russians believed the withdrawal would "give the Koreans the opportunity to form themselves a government with the help and aid of the Allies."

The text, as translated by American experts, made no mention of "help and aid of the Allies" but said the withdrawal would "allow the Koreans to form their own government without such help."

The translation discrepancy came a day after two Korean leaders of divergent political views agreed that the Soviet withdrawal proposal, if effected, would result in civil war in Korea.

Manoeuvre American diplomatic authorities view the Soviet proposal for early simultaneous withdrawal of American and Russian troops from Korea as a propaganda manoeuvre to influence the Korean issue in the United Nations.

These authorities voiced the belief privately that Moscow does not expect the proposal to be taken seriously as a practical course of action. Pending receipt of the official version of the proposal made at Seoul, State Department officials said they could not comment.

A spokesman noted that Secretary of State George Marshall has submitted to the United Nations Assembly the Russian-American stalemate over establishing a provisional Government for Korea. The Big Four Pacific Foreign Ministers decided in 1946 that Korea requires a five-year period of Allied trusteeship under a provisional Government before being ready for ultimate complete independence that was pledged in Cairo in 1943. The Pacific Big Four includes Britain and China, as well as Russia and the United States.

The effect of the withdrawal of all American and Russian troops now would be to expose the country to quick domination by the Communists who have been tightly organised in the Soviet occupation zone, it was suggested here.

Secretary of State Marshall tossed the issue of Korea's future into the lap of the United Nations Assembly after the Russians blocked for two years the efforts of a joint Soviet-American Commission to reach agreement on steps to set up a provisional Government.—Associated Press.

REALLY WONDERFUL SUPPORT FOR LABOUR, SAYS ATTLEE

Premier's Attack On Churchill

Leicester, Sept. 27.
The Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, in his first public party speech since the dollar crisis began, appealed today to Labour followers to face all difficulties in the adventurous spirit of the pioneering days of the Movement, conscious of the Socialist mission of Labour Britain.

Claiming that popular support for the Government, as shown by its unbeaten bye-election record, was "really wonderful" in view of the economic conditions, he blamed the Opposition for causing harm to Britain by presenting a false picture to readers abroad.

The continued need for restrictions in Britain, Mr. Attlee argued, was partly due to the slow post-war recovery of the European countries with whom Britain wanted to cooperate.

Eastern Europe, he stressed, had not escaped these problems any more than Western Europe. He thought that "the virulence of the attacks on the rest of the world in the Soviet press is the measure of the difficulty that the Government of the Soviet Union is experiencing."

Mr. Attlee charged Winston Churchill with "exploiting every difficulty that arises for the government."

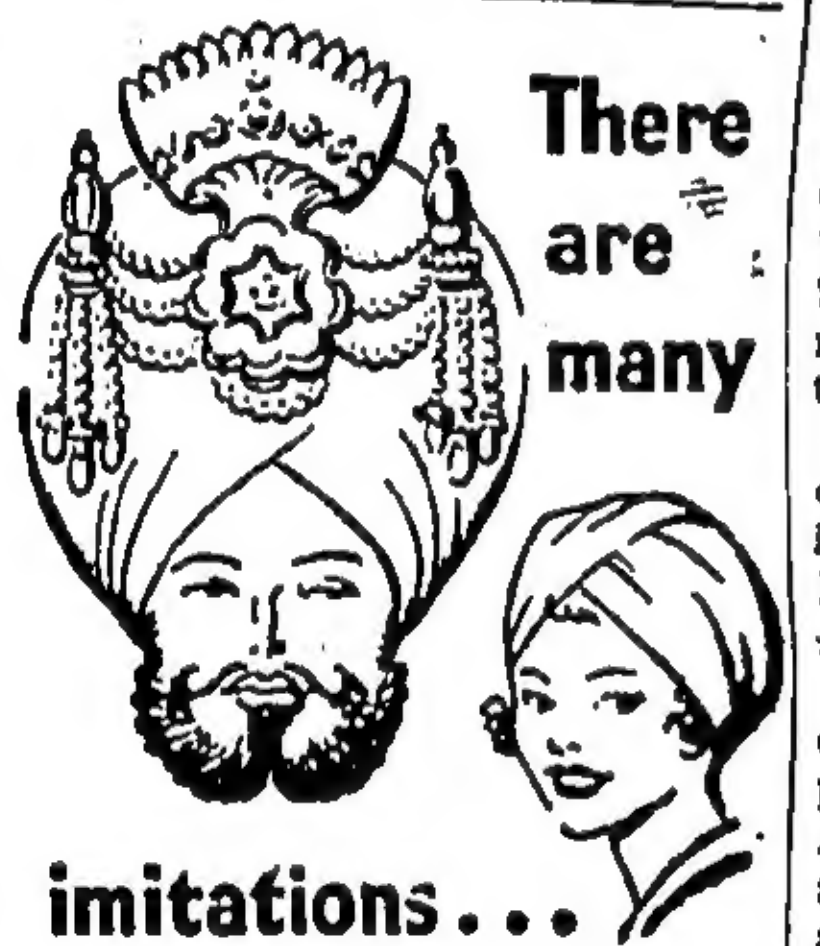

Different Winston

"It is very different from the Churchill of the war," Mr. Attlee said, "who exhorted the people to bear bravely the inevitable hardship which war entailed and now apparently is exhorting them to whine and to blame."

The Prime Minister, who came here to address a Labour Party rally, was met on his arrival by a mile-long parade of automobiles towing their horns in protest at the elimination of the basic gasoline ration under the Government's economy programme.

Mr. Attlee, who ascribed Britain's difficulties to post-war economic upsets and world food shortages, departed from his prepared address to attack Mr. Churchill. He declared that the former Prime Minister "knows perfectly well that these things are not due to the action of the Labour Government."

Mr. Attlee denounced a "section of the press" which he said was giving a false impression of Britain. He said that the "great mass of the press"

REDS PICK ON SOUTH AFRICA

Lake Success, Sept. 28.
A Russian delegate today accused South Africa of intending to annex South-West Africa.

The delegate, Professor Doria Stein, was speaking in the United Nations trusteeship committee, where South Africa has stated that it had plans for inviting some of the territory's population to take part in the Union Legislature. This would "merely simplify the annexation of South-West Africa."

"It is clear that the South African Government intends to annex that territory," he continued. "Neither the trusteeship committee nor the General Assembly can bypass this act of flagrant disobedience on the part of the Union Government."—Reuter.

BRITAIN COULD HAVE DONE IT WAY BACK IN 1937!

London, Sept. 28.
Supply Ministry scientists today told an amazed press conference, "Britain could have anticipated America's pilotless flight across the Atlantic ten years ago but we could see no

The Supply Ministry called the conference apparently to answer the rising barrage of criticism by the British press for permitting the Americans "to get the jump" on the United Kingdom in automatic flight.

Mr. E. T. Jones, Director of Instrument Research, said the RAF and the Supply Ministry were at present working on an automatic flight device of considerably more importance than anything in the C-51 which made the flight. He said this device—automatic landing control—would be "far more than 90 per cent effective" in permitting blind landings within two years.

He said the RAF had three experimental stations for working on automatic flying devices. He said "We could emulate the American success."

Mr. Wingstaff said, "Each individual control in the American plane is not new. But what the Americans have done is to make a spectacular flight by putting all those controls in one airplane. Were there any need, we could have done so ten years ago."

New Device

"We did not do it because ten years ago there was no demand for such automatic flying. It was only in the 1947 type of year that there was a demand for it."

Britain is working on a new automatic landing device, Mr. Jones said. Over 200 approaches have been made successfully "with aircraft still in working order," he said. "We hope that within two years it will revolutionize flying in this country and abroad."

Whereas Britain is now largely using American beam flying equipment, he said, in future the position might be reversed. He said, however, that there was no possibility of robot equipment replacing crews for

U.S. Should Give Huge China Loan

Vancouver, Sept. 28.
A suggestion that the United States loan China $3,000,000,000 to enable her to regain her former economic position in world commerce was made by Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris, of British Columbia, in an address to the Pacific Coast Association of Port Authorities convention here.

He said Canada should share in any loan project, and that the prosperity of British Columbia depended on trade with the Orient.

His plan calls for an increase in the price of gold after the China loan had been granted, raising it to three times its present value, thus creating a reserve of $9,000,000,000.

"Against this amount China could issue $18,000,000,000 of sound currency, which would go a long way toward solving her present currency problem."

G. La Roche, of Portland, Oregon, warned against United States loans to China to the extent of "impoverishing America." A stable Government in China was the first essential to trade recovery, he said.

"We should help our cousins, but go elsewhere until the matter clarifies itself," he said.—Associated Press.

Civil Control Of U.S. Zone?

Berlin, Sept. 28.
The State Department will probably take over the administration of the American zone of Germany by the spring of next year with a High Commissioner replacing the Military Governor, informed quarters predicted today.

General Lucius D. Clay, because he is an Army career man.

Two chief difficulties stand in the way of the State Department's taking over the German burden from the Army—1. It must get sufficient allocation from the Government to finance such a venture and 2. the existing Four-Power agreement on the operation of the Reich must be revised. The present agreements call for military rather than civilian rule.

Should the State Department take over, undoubtedly the army would continue the work of policing the zone and handling supplies, communications etc. Administrative and policy matters, however, would be in the hands of diplomats. As it now stands, Gen. Marshall must go through War Department channels to pass down his policies to Clay. It is a known fact that Marshall prefers to deal directly with the military governor.

Ambassador Robert D. Murphy will go to Washington with Gen. Clay for the conference. They plan to return to Berlin after two weeks. It is believed that Marshall will take them with him to the London conference.—United Press.

WHEN ZHUKOV STAYED AT HOME: A DEAL THAT FAILED

Mexico, Mo., Sept. 28.
Robert M. White, second associate publisher of the local newspaper "Ledger" and a former major in the army, told today in a signed story in his paper what happened to the much publicized trip of Marshal Zhukov—which did not come off—to the United States in October, 1945.

White said at that time he was due to be discharged but was asked to stay in the service an extra two weeks to handle the press while Marshal Zhukov was in the United States.

"We prepared an initial release which was issued when White House announced on Sept. 27 the pending visit," his story said. "No higher level of Government could have made the announcement."

He went on to relate how a second story detailed Marshal Zhukov's lavish itinerary in this country. Both stories received international play.

"Then came the iron curtain," White went on. "I was told to release nothing more. Time passed. The press sandbagged me with questions—including the Tass boys. I did not know the answer and said so."

"Finally, on Oct. 2, Mr. Charlie Ross released a story at White House, saying that Marshal Zhukov was ill and could not come. However, here is the story behind the story."

"I never saw documentary proof but heard it by word of mouth from what I consider an excellent source: With the world expecting Marshal Zhukov to come to America as official guest of the United States, the Russian Government sent through diplomatic channels a statement that Marshal Zhukov could come but while he was in the United States the Soviet Union would be under Soviet pressure to ratify a proposed oil concession agreement with Russia.—Associated Press.

Jitters In The Near East

Teheran, Sept. 28.

Visiting United States Congressmen offered words of encouragement today to small nations, and the British Embassy's news bulletin quoted an American

Naval source as saying that the United States Mediterranean Fleet is "completely armed and ready."

Military observers described as "probably rumours" reports circulated in Teheran that three United States warships were in Persian Gulf waters and that "large American planes" were seen in Saudi Arabia.

A diplomatic source said: "A routine test flight group of B-29s might have landed at the American field at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia." The field is near large American oil concessions. Iran is currently under Soviet pressure to ratify a proposed oil concession agreement with Russia.—Associated Press.

Death For Robbery In Burma

Rangoon, Sept. 27.
Armed robbery and banditry in Burma will be punishable by death in Burma after Oct. 15, U Kyaw Nyein, Minister for Home and Judicial Affairs, announced today.

Possession of illegal arms will also be punishable by death after the same date.

After the transfer of power no political party will be allowed to maintain "private armies," the Minister said. The People's Volunteer Corps—the volunteer force of the Anti Fascist Peoples Freedom League—would be reorganized as a National Service Corps to assist in a reconstruction campaign, he said. The Minister, speaking at a press conference, said that the Government was compelled to enforce these drastic measures "to liquidate lawlessness in Burma because other steps to combat delinquency including offers of amnesty if all arms were surrendered, had failed to produce the desired results."

The transfer from Britain to the Burmese Government is expected to take place in January.—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S PALESTINE MOVE: JEWS AND ARABS SUSPICIOUS

“A Trap To Scare” United States!

London, Sept. 27. Arabs, Jews and some British greeted with scepticism Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones' statement before the United Nations on Friday that Britain was willing to surrender her Palestine mandate and was ready to withdraw her troops from the Holy Land.

British press comment generally was favourable and some editorials expressed the hope that the British stand might mean eventual peace for Palestine.

In Palestine itself, the statement got a suspicious reception. One British official in Jerusalem jokingly offered to “bet you five quid we are still here five years from now.”

Dr. Hussein el Khalidi, Secretary of the Arab Higher Executive, said six Arab states which signed the United Nations Charter would “take over the military burden and maintain law and order until a representative democratic government is set up in Palestine.”

Khalidi named the states as Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia, now United Nations members, and Yemen, to be admitted at the current Assembly session.

British troop strength in the Holy Land has been estimated to be in excess of 100,000 men.

“A Trap”

An Arab spokesman in London said the British announcement was “favourably received but said the Arabs would resist control by any United Nations authority.”

In Cairo, the British announcement was branded by Sheikh Hassan el Banna, Moslem Brother.

He added that it was possible that Britain might agree to take part in some international force instructed by the United Nations to maintain order in Palestine in which case it would be a question of reducing, rather than completely evacuating, the present force.

He said that details of the British withdrawal, which, in any case, depended on the outcome of the United Nations debate, such as the ownership of British military installations in Palestine, remained undefined at present, but he emphasized that Britain's decision to terminate her mandate would certainly hold good even if the General Assembly failed to reach any conclusion at the present session.

The independent Sunday newspaper, Observer, forecast that the ban on foreign holiday travel for British tourists due to come into force on Oct. 1 may be eased soon, at least for some of the “soft currency” areas, which include France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland, Norway and Greece.

The negotiations, which have been going on with various countries since the war was announced a month ago, have made “a great deal of progress,” although no agreements have yet been reached, the paper said.

Ministers were always a “little unhappy” about the ban, the Observer declared, but they felt that tourist trade could not continue to be a one-way traffic, and they have, therefore, insisted that any facilities they were being asked to grant should also be given to foreigners who wish to visit England.

“It is on this new principle that the talks have been conducted. Its application would mean that if the French granted £30 to go to England, we would allow our tourists £30 to go to France.”—Reuter.

IN NEAR FUTURE London, Sept. 27. Britain's withdrawal from Palestine will take place as soon as practicable after the present debate in the General Assembly of the United Nations in the absence of a settlement, a Foreign Office spokesman in London reaffirmed today.

FEDERAL FUNDS FOR AID PLAN?

Washington, Sept. 27. President Truman might try to arrange a “gentlemen's agreement” with Congressional leaders on Monday to enable him to use existing federal funds for stop-gap aid to Europe and to avoid the need for a special session of Congress, two influential United States Senators suggested today.

The idea was put forward by Democratic Senators Richard B. Russell of Georgia and John L. McClellan of Arkansas.

The Senators speaking to reporters here, pointed out that the Export and Import Bank, Reconstruction Finance Corporation or Commodity Credit Corporation have together thousands of millions of dollars of accumulated funds.

As the law now stands the Government could not use these funds for foreign aid but the Senators suggested that President Truman might seek the agreement of Congressional leaders for the temporary diversion of the money to meet the immediate needs of Europe.—Reuter.

TITO ATTACK ON AMERICA

Belgrade, Sept. 27. Marshal Tito, addressing 1,200 delegates of the People's Front Congress, said today that “popular fronts throughout the world” must stand against Fascism “fostered by international reaction under the leadership of American monopoly and capital.”

“International reaction, repeating its previous performance, is bringing back Fascism and turning it again into an aggressive force, but popular progressive forces will halt its march,” Tito said.—United Press.

NAZI'S DAUGHTER GOES TO U.S.

Frankfurt, Sept. 27. Fraulein Benigna Goerdeler, 18-year-old daughter of Karl Goerdeler, former mayor of Leipzig who was executed by the Nazis following the July 20, 1944 bomb plot on Hitler's life, left today for the United States where she has been awarded a two-year scholarship at Briarcliffe Junior College, New York.

The slender blonde girl, who spent a year in a concentration camp after her father was killed, told reporters she plans to study science and become a doctor.

“This is my great opportunity,” she said shyly.—United Press.

Russians Boast Of Harvest

London, Sept. 28. Flushed with the success of this year's grain harvest, Pravda, in an editorial broadcast by Moscow Radio today, announced that the autumn sowing campaign had progressed even better than last year.

Pravda said that collective and individual farms had sown 8,750,000 more acres than at the same date last year. It said, however, that some regions which had been hit by the drought of last year were still behind in the winter crops.

Northern Caucasus and the Stavropol areas were blamed for sowing only 45 per cent of their quota under the Five-Year Plan.

“Collective farms of the country have ploughed a somewhat bigger area than last year but the tempo of ploughing can by no means be considered satisfactory,” Pravda said.

Reviewing this year's harvest, Pravda said many farms exceeded the pre-war level and the Kharov region gave the country 192,000 more tons of grain than in the best pre-war years.

“The successes this year created very good possibilities for the speedy development of agriculture during the further years of the Five-Year Plan,” Pravda said.—United Press.

WHAT'S IN A NAME-OR HEIGHT?

London, Sept. 28. Percy Bryant Baker, prominent American sculptor, expressed the conviction today after months of research in the United States and Britain that George Washington was a full six feet tall.

Baker, commissioned to carve the Washington statue for the Masonic Memorial in Washington, checked the coffin measurements with the black velvet coat now at the home of Washington's ancestors, Sulgrave Manor, Northamptonshire.

The 66-year-old sculptor, will return to New York after three months of rest and research at his native London home.—United Press.

M.P.'S UNDER A CLOUD

Bratislava, Sept. 27. The Slovakian security authorities will ask the National Assembly's Immunity Committee to cancel the Parliamentary immunity of Dr. Bugar, Slovak member of Parliament and General Secretary of the Slovak Democratic Party, and that of Dr. Kocny, another Slovak member of Parliament, on the ground that they were implicated in the recent plot against the Czechoslovak Government.—Reuter.

Another Split On Austria Industry

Vienna, Sept. 27. The Russians supported while Britain and the United States opposed a French proposal in the Austrian Treaty Commission today for restrictions on Austrian industry, designed to restrict her military capacity.

The British spokesman said that Britain and the United States opposed the restrictions on the grounds that they would have a serious deleterious economic effect on Austrian industry and would impose unjustified restraints upon Austrian economy.

Further restrictions, he said, would be undesirable and for which no provision was made in the treaty.

Although the suggestions would make impossible the arming of the Austrian forces exclusively by Austrian industry as proposed yesterday by the Soviet representative, the Russians supported the French viewpoint.

It is believed that the French delegation might justify their demands in order to secure Austrian consent in which case Britain has promised to reconsider its attitude.

The Commission then considered Article 34 of the treaty dealing with reparations. Although the Potsdam Agreement laid down the principle that “reparations shall not be exacted from Austria”, the Russian delegate asked that the Yugoslav claim to reparations should be carefully considered.

Yugoslavia claim 247,500,000 reparations from Austria. The British and Americans have agreed to hear Yugoslavia only if Yugoslavia asks to be heard, but they have bound themselves in advance by the principle laid down at Potsdam that Austria should not pay reparations which would be completely injured by the Russian proposal.

In this the French supported the Anglo-American attitude.—Reuter.

SPANISH ATTACK ON SOVIET

London, Sept. 28.

The Spanish Socialist leader, Indalecio Prieto, in an exclusive interview with the United Press today, charged Russia with opposing a peaceful solution of the Spanish problem.

Prieto said, "Russia is interested in a civil war in Spain. She knows she has nothing to hope for from a pacific solution and her only chance consists in Spain becoming the scene of another civil war."

But if there were no civil war, said Prieto, Russia, preferred the present conditions to a pacific solution because they could be turned into a propaganda instrument against the Anglo-Saxon world.

Prieto declared that the Communists were bluffing as far as Spain was concerned and said they represented no serious factor there.

In new Spain, said Prieto, the Communists would enjoy the same rights as other political parties but there could be no cooperation between them and anti-totalitarian political forces. It was best to keep the Communists in political isolation, he said.—United Press.

"RESISTANCE" STRIKES IN GERMANY

Berlin, Sept. 28. German Trade Union leaders at Hamburg declared that orders had been issued throughout the British zone for strikes as a form of open "resistance" to British-American plans for the dismantling of large numbers of German factories for reparations.

Chairman Adolf Kummernus of the Hamburg Trade Union Congress said that "no German worker will be encouraged to lay hands on any plants useful for peace production."

Dispatches from Essen said tension prevailed throughout the industrial Ruhr as the result of unconfirmed reports that there were from 800 to 1,000 factories on the American-British list for removal, including Germany's entire ball bearing industry, virtually all the so-called "peaceful" section of the great Krupp works, and three plants which manufacture much needed coal mining equipment.

Workers at the Holm factory at Kiel already have gone on strike, Hamburg dispatches said, as a result of reports that the plant is to be torn down. The factory makes diesel marine engines and Germans claimed its dismantling would cripple the fishing industry. Allied officials said the factory could easily be converted to war purposes.

The revised list of dismantlings compiled since the British-American decision was reached last August to raise the industrial level for Western Germany to approximately the 1936 standard, is expected to be published next week.

Drastic Moves To Quell Cholera Outbreak

Tehran, Sept. 27.

Persia and Greece took drastic steps today to meet the risk of travellers bringing cholera from stricken Egypt, where doctors fighting against the epidemic were expecting an early aid in drugs and vaccines from America.

Air traffic between Egypt and Persia was suspended today because of the outbreak, Tehran Radio reported.

Severe protective measures were taken by the Greek harbour authorities at Piraeus, the country's principal port, against ships arriving from Egypt. All travellers will be submitted to medical inspection on five consecutive days after their arrival.

Air Relief
The first of a relay of planes carrying $9,000 worth of medical supplies to fight the epidemic was leaving the United States today in response to Egypt's urgent appeal, Reuter reports from Washington station.

The first plane was carrying 10,000 pounds of plasma, vaccines and sulphur, drugs and other army transport planes were leaving soon after to take the balance of 70,000 pounds of supplies.

The outbreak is now estimated to have affected 200 persons, with 29 deaths.

In Cairo, the Ministry of Public Health reported tonight 119 new cases of cholera in the past 24 hours.

This is an increase of 25 over the previous 24 hours (total of 94 new cases). Up to now, 29 cholera deaths have been reported, the Ministry's communique added.—Reuter.

Turning to India, Mr. Churchill said: "The fearful massacres which are occurring in India are no surprise to me."

"We are, of course, only at the beginning of these horrors and butcheries, perpetrated upon one another with the ferocity of cannibals by men gifted with capabilities for the highest culture and who have for generations dwelt side by side in general peace under the broad, tolerant and impartial rule of the British Crown and Parliament."

"I cannot doubt that the future will witness an abridgement of the population throughout what has for 60 or 70 years been the most peaceful part of the world and that at the same time will come a retrogression of civilisation throughout these enormous regions constituting one of the most melancholy tragedies Asia has ever known."

He welcomed Britain's decision to evacuate from Palestine and hoped that it would be carried out as quickly as possible.

Britain had poured money and men into Palestine and had gained "nothing but ill-will there and in every quarter of the world,"—United Press and Reuter.

Hamburg labour leaders said their policy was to support the removal of plants with a war potential, but now the limit has been reached.

The Congress of German Board of Trade officials at Hamburg also asked the British Military Government that all dismantling be stopped. The industrialists declared the Communists were making propaganda use of the dismantling programme, calling it "brutal" and using it to offset criticism of Russia's stripping of her zone.

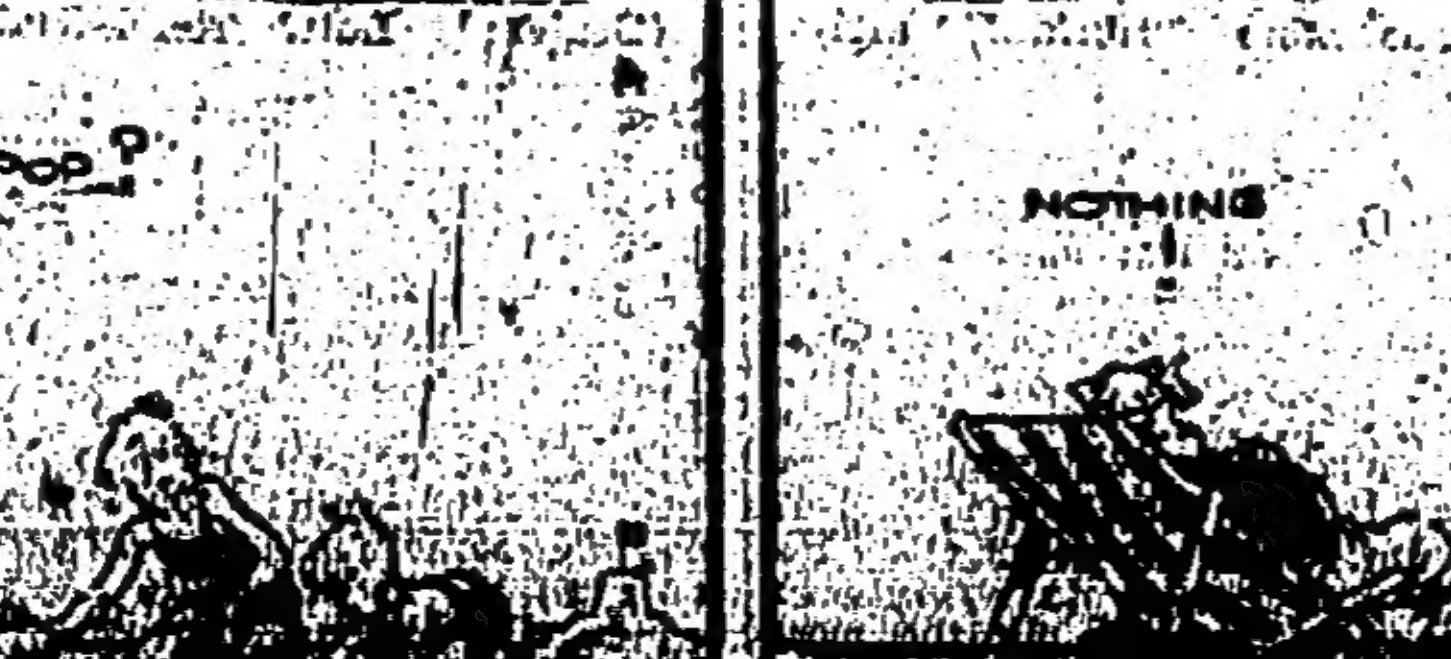

Not Final
Essen dispatches said the dismantling list already had been placed in the hands of British, American and German economic officials and bits of information had leaked out, creating an explosive issue.

General Clay declared, however, that although the list had been drafted it had not been approved by him and could not be considered final until approved by him and the British Military Government.

He said his stand remained unaltered that Russia would receive no more industrial reparations out of the American zone until she agrees to fulfill the Potsdam accord for four-power control of German economy.—Associated Press.

No change!

CHINA TURNS COLD ON SOVIET

Nanking, Sept. 28.

Despite recent open pronouncements of high Government officials intimating closer Sino-Soviet relationships, China's foreign policy will undergo no fundamental change, so far as the United States is concerned.

This was made clear by responsible Kuomintang officials who blamed Vice-President Sun Fo for "having made undiplomatic utterances without knowing their consequences" and stressed that Sun Fo's statement "as best represented his own views." Most of the Kuomintang officials, contacted by Associated Press, however, appeared unconcerned about reports of the impending release of Wedemeyer's report to Truman. They refused to speculate over the nature of Wedemeyer's recommendations, saying, "Whatever they may be, China has a fixed foreign policy and is not prepared to change it for the present at least."

Reform Plan
Meanwhile the Government is going ahead with its reform plan and anti-corruption campaign, which has resulted thus far in the execution and imprisonment of more than 30 high army and civil officials.

The appointment of civil officials to provincial and municipal posts will continue "wherever and whenever military conditions permit," a highly placed Kuomintang official said. Next to T. V. Soong's appointment as Governor of Kwangtung Province will be the nomination of Finance Minister O. K. Yui as Mayor of Canton. He most likely will be succeeded by Vice-Minister of Finance Hsu Po-yuan.

He stressed that this partial Government shake-up was not being effected "simply to impress Wedemeyer" but was a well-planned Government effort to enhance administrative efficiency both in Central and local government structures.—Associated Press.

Those who care about their country should not lose faith in its future or its recovery or have any doubt that it will become glorious again when years of Socialist incompetence and avarice have faded from us like a bad dream."

"India"

Turning to India, Mr. Churchill said: "The fearful massacres which are occurring in India are no surprise to me."

"We are, of course, only at the beginning of these horrors and butcheries, perpetrated upon one another with the ferocity of cannibals by men gifted with capabilities for the highest culture and who have for generations dwelt side by side in general peace under the broad, tolerant and impartial rule of the British Crown and Parliament."

"GREECE TO ASK FOR MORE AID"

Athens, Sept. 28. Informed sources said Premier Themistokles Sophoulis would ask the United States aid mission for an additional $100,000,000 to finance an increase in forces to combat guerrillas. The amount would be added to the $300,000,000 already granted for Greek military aid and civilian relief purposes.

Representative Taber (Republican, New York), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee here to study the aid programme, said he had not heard there would be an official request for an increase. He said the Greeks already had plenty of troops to combat the guerrillas but added that the army "must get a move on if we are going to continue aid."—Associated Press.

Industry's reaction to Sir Stafford Cripps's export programme has been generally encouraging, but it is recognised on all sides that the real test will be its detailed application to individual industries. A great deal depends on the ability of the Government to retain the enthusiasm and good will of both managements and workers in the unavoidably painful initial stages, when production is being redirected towards the new targets. The prime object of an increase in aggregate production should be kept firmly in mind. During his speech last week Sir Stafford pointed out that a very marked increase in production "was wholly within our capacity." Amplifying this statement, he declared that in a number of cases production increases up to 40 per cent. could be obtained without any increase in labour force. It is in this direction that safety and recovery lie.

Consultations are to be started on such questions as the removal of restrictive trade practices and overtime working. These are not new questions. They have been raised time and again during the past two years, but with singularly little result. In particular an answer must be found to these difficulties in the coal industry. Sir Arthur Sutherland, President of the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce, recalls that in 1938 the Tyne alone exported over 7,000,000 tons of coal, while in the peak year of 1923 the figure was no less than 16,500,000 tons. In that year this country actually exported 74,449,000 tons of coal. Not only does coal hold the key to performance in all the export industries, it is in itself the one export which at present makes no demands on salesmanship. If one thing is calculated to damp enthusiasm throughout industry it is for production to be held up by coal shortage. If the strike refuses to increase his rate of striking, then the rest of the best's crew can hardly quicken their own.

If the Government can remove the various drags upon production, of which coal shortage has been the chief, its own problems will be greatly eased. The more aggregate production improves the less resort there need be to what Mr. Tewson, general secretary of the T.U.C. quite rightly described as "the distortion" of industry. If non-essential industries are going to be driven out of production by the restriction of their fuel and raw material supplies, if workers are going to be forced to change their jobs by the artificial unemployment thus caused, supplemented by direction even in its most velvet-gloved form, a great deal of pain and suffering will be caused. Such rough processes will not induce either good will or enthusiasm. It is in everyone's interest to keep them to a minimum.

A London Film Correspondent Tells You About

THE SCREEN'S DEBT TO THE STAGE

You are often told about film stars. You read about those already well established in the glittering firmament, and starlets making a steady—or sometimes meteoric—ascend. Today let us talk not of these stars commanding so much limelight and publicity, but of the stage actors and actresses who lend their talents to the screen, frequently in supporting parts. For although they often remain in the background as far as publicity is concerned, the screen could not do without them. In fact, their artistic contribution to film-making is often greater than that of the so-called star, bogged to fame.

A close observer of British films in particular will find that the rise of the English film to its present high standards is to a high degree due to the great theatrical tradition of Shakespeare's country. Film studios in Britain are in the enviable position of being able to draw from the invaluable reservoir of acting talent which the British stage offers.

Creating A Character

Quite a few film stars, in the proper meaning of the word, that is screen stars of world fame, have risen from the English theatre. This is true not only of British films, but of Hollywood, as stars like Greer Garson, Ronald Colman, Claude Rains and many others prove. Think, too, of Laurence Olivier, Vivien Leigh, Rex Harrison, Robert Donat, Sir Ralph Richardson, Michael Redgrave and many more who rose to international film star fame from the English stage.

These are stars of stage as well as screen, but there are many others whose names shine in big letters outside theatres, but who are content to remain near the bottom of the cast list of a film, rather than live up to a reputation created by publicity. In fact, unless a leading part in a film happens to suit them particularly—as the part of Darnley suited John Gielgud in "The Prime Minister"—or unless it is one which they created on the stage, they prefer to devote their talent to creating a perfect little cameo of a character sketch.

Take Hermione Baddeley, for instance. She is one of the most distinguished actresses on the British stage. Yet, she plays a small part.

100 Years Ago

(From the files of the "China Mail")

The Garrison Amateur Theatricals drew a full house on Thursday evening—a high compliment to the performers, considering the heat. The Theatre was kept tolerably cool with punkahs; but a brick wall was the most agreeable neighbour to come into very close contact with. We were sensibly reminded of the diversity, the complexity and subtlety of the air we breathed, and could not help longing for a few willows, that they might gorge themselves with carbonic acid gas and replenish the atmosphere with oxygen, which is the healing lungs of "a human" is as refreshing as a genuine sherry cobbler to the stomach.

The ship "Persian" and "Mary Whitney" from Singapore Straits produce struck on the north bank (of the river at Shanghai) and have since gone to pieces. A small portion of the produce was saved and no lives lost. The vessels were in company, running in thick weather, without pilots of course, as they are none at Shanghai. The foreign merchants talk of a pilot establishment; and it is the opinion of competent judges that no ship should enter without one—excepting, perhaps, the regular coasting vessels, who are commanded for the most part by competent pilots.

The ship "Hermes" arrived from the Sandwich Islands on Sunday. The cargo was partly sold at the island, partly stored and partly brought back, entailing a certain loss upon the shipper. The Charterer was apprehensive of the desertion of the crew should the vessel go on to California. The "Richard" and "William" were laid up at San Francisco, deserted by the crew, and unable to ship hands and cargo to Hong Kong.

that of the licensee of a cheap hotel with a dubious reputation, in the forthcoming Ealing production "It Always Rains On Sunday." This and "Brighton Rock," the Boulting Brothers production in which she takes a part she played on the stage, are her first films.

Fame Overnight

Gathering laurels for her first film success is Rosalind Crutchley, who braved the arc lamps for the first time in Clegg's "Take My Life," after a distinguished career with the Bristol Old Vic Theatre company and as leading lady to John Gielgud during his recent London season.

An actress does not often become famous overnight, on both stage and screen, but very likely this is what will happen to Eileen Herlie. Suddenly reeketed to the queen in the play of Jean Cocteau's "The Eagle Has Two Heads," she was recently engaged by Laurence Olivier for the film of "Hamlet." She will play the Queen.

Another young actress who scored a success on her first screen appearance is Joan Hopkins, who has signed a long-term contract on the strength of her work in the Associate British picture "Temptation Harbour."

The name of Bill Rowbotham may not mean very much to the filmgoer abroad, for it does not even mean anything to the filmgoer in Britain—yet. For Bill Rowbotham, starting his career at the well-known Unity Theatre and later graduating to the West End stage, now has his first big chance in a film, opposite Patricia Roc. Gainsborough's "When The Bells Break." Before that he played a small part in Compton Bennett's "Daybreak," which will shortly be released.

Versatile Artist

On the other hand there is Felix Aylmer, equally at home on stage and screen. He is one of the best character actors of the British cinema, one who can always be relied upon to play his part to perfection. A versatile artist, we have just seen him in the part of the priest in Sidney Box's "The Man Within." Now he has completed his role of a ghost in British National's "The Ghosts of Berkeley Square" and is about to start work as Polonius in Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet."

"Another ghost in the 'Ghosts of Berkeley Square' is a stage actor who has also won fame on the screen, Robert Morley. You will remember him for his Louis XVI in the Hollywood film 'Marie Antoinette,' and his Charles Fox in the British production 'The Young Mr. Pitt.' Others in the cast of

"Ghosts of Berkeley Square" are the delightful French actress Yvonne Arnaud, who has made Britain her home and whom we last saw in "Woman to Woman," and the well-known stage and screen comedian Claude Hulbert.

An actor we see in films only occasionally is Frederick Valk, recognised as the best "Othello" of the present-day British stage. He is currently playing in the film "Mrs. Fitzherbert." And if you take a good look at the cast list for "Mrs. Fitzherbert," you will find many names from the stage: Leslie Binks, Margaretta Scott, Wanda Rotha, Milton Rosmer and Ralph Truman.

Other actors and actresses who are famous on both stage and screen, grace the films only too rarely. Do you remember Diana Wynyard's magnificent acting in Thorold Dickinson's film "Casualty" early in the war? It is not often that we see this beautiful and accomplished actress in the cinema, but we shall soon have that pleasure again when Sir Alexander Korda's production of Oscar Wilde's "An Ideal Husband" is completed.

Equally Happy

Alastair Sim, who can be very funny as well as very grim, divides his time between stage and screen, equally happy in both. His latest film appearances were in "Green For Danger" and "Hue And Cry." And, of course, there is Mary Clare, the distinguished actress who has temporarily forsaken the stage in order to play one of the "Three Weird Sisters" in the British National film.

Fay Compton is one of the greatest stage artists in Britain today. However brief her appearance, a film is all the richer for it. You will have seen her as the spirit in Noel Coward's "Bilthe Spirit," and no doubt you will agree that she is exceptionally talented when you see her again as Rose in "Odd Man Out" and as Madame Mantalini in "Nicholas Nickleby."

And while we are talking of "Nicholas Nickleby," when you see it you will find a great many names in the cast list, possibly unknown to you as yet, of Britain's outstanding stage artists: Sybil Thorndike, Athene Seyler, Alfred Drayton, Vida Hope, George Relph, Michael Shepley, Eliot Makham and many others.

From theatres of the West End and the smaller, intimate theatres of London, from the repertory theatres all over the country and from theatre as famous as the Bristol Old Vic, or the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, come the actors and actresses who, with their excellent characterisations, have helped to bring international fame to the British cinema.

"The Authority on Authorities"

COVER ALL VARIATIONS

There are so many variations in the play of certain suits that the fine declarer must consider a whole series of factors if he is to assure a successful result. The defenders may have at each play a chance to choose one or another option. The ideal way to play that suit, therefore, is one which will work no matter what option the opponents select on each occasion. This can depend on the exact size of the small cards in the suit and therefore on very careful procedure.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

Four very fine players were in action on this deal in a Chicago rubber game. South was Louis J. Haddad, former winner of national championships, who has been retired from tournament play for some years but still retains all his keenness. He admitted to me that he had been "a little bit" off his game.

to 3-No Trumps had been based on some drops of strength in both hearts and clubs, to solidify those suits, and North also held four hearts, a third-round bid of 8-Hearts by North would have disclosed that situation, and Mr. Haddad would have left it there. After winning the diamond Q lead with the K, Mr. Haddad saw the contract might depend on the heart play, including the fact that the 8 was higher than his 7. So, after taking in his spade A and K, he led the heart 10. If West played the J, the Q would go on; if East ducked that, he would be in dummy to cash the spade Q and finesse clubs. If East did cover, the heart 8 would be established for an entry to dummy.

West refused to cover the 10, however, whereupon the heart 8 played from the dummy. If East used his K, the Q would be set up; if East played low, then the 9 was led, the declarer being ready to play the Q if the 9 went on, but West played low and the 8 was played from dummy. If East took this, the contract would be made by the club finesse after leading to the heart Q: if he played low, his K could be dropped and the loss of a club trick could be afforded.

Why is there really no conflict between the two admonitions to "Play so as to protect your heart suit against every possible division of the missing cards" and "Play as if the missing cards are divided in the only way which will enable you to make your contract?" Simply put, it is to play so as to protect your heart suit against every possible division of the missing cards.

A Hong Kongite's Trip To Manila

By BOADICEA

One of the most vivid impressions I got on my recent visit to Manila was the obvious carelessness and sureness of the people, so unconscious and yet so emphatic. The Nation has certainly awakened to their new found freedom, and they are proud of it. Every Filipino I met, and they were all by no means in Government Service, or in Politics; most of them were the ordinary man in the street, barbers, shopkeepers, taxi drivers, clerks and typists—they all gave me the same impression of their spontaneous Voluntary National Unity—an indomitable will to have a hand in rebuilding their war-scarred country, and they are not making a bad job of it either, from what I could see. At the end of the second year of their liberation from the yoke of Japanese domination, many industries have started and farming is progressing. Everybody is busy and well paid for their labour. They are well dressed and well fed. Their traffic system is well organised. You should see the efficiency of the traffic policeman, regulating the stream of vehicles that pour in and out of the city. The Customs Authorities' unruffled sureness and speed in the clearance of passengers' luggage. The Immigration Officials and Health Officers do their duty in the minimum time. Their schools, and there are many of them, are clean; their teachers bright and alert, kindly and cheerful, and the children all seem so well cared for and happy.

Gone are the days of the obvious lazy ease. In business houses, in shops, and in restaurants alike, one finds efficiency and an atmosphere of importance, of assertion in doing a good job. One cannot but admire this National aspiration—this pride of country. There is an extremely rich country. It yields its products the world wants, and is so short of. Sugar, cane, for alcohol, sugar, and its waste products which are put to many uses. Coconuts for oils and fats, also with waste products of invaluable prospects. Coal, and many miter-als when developed, would assume vast dimensions. I hear that there is also marble in the country, equal to what Italy, the land of marble, could give the world.

Their airfield, Makati, is a very important junction for air travel. Literally dozens of planes, large and small, take off every quarter of an hour, on their inter-island and international service. The organisation of the flights, and the passengers, runs smoothly; nobody seems ruffled, and everybody on staff jobs seems very busy. Very few American advisers are seen.

The Philippine Air Lines Inc., P.A.L. as it is called, is the largest concern owned and operated by the stupendous Soriano Combine. They operate 52 planes on the inter-island service, and 6 on the international service—47 Twin-engine, C-47 and 5 Four-engine C-45 on the Home Service, and six four-engine C-45 on the international service. They all carry American Pilots with Filipino Co-Pilots and Hostesses. They are luxuriously fitted and accommodate 26 and 21 passengers respectively. Cool drinks and sandwiches are served on the planes, no matter where one is bound for.

I travelled by night on one of this company's four-engine planes from Hong Kong to Manila. Left Hong Kong at 6.30 p.m. and arrived at 10.15 p.m. at Makati Aerodrome. The landing, led by Radar Control, was the most perfect that I could ever imagine. It was as though it was in broad daylight.

Jap Police Hunt For Tokyo Gang Leader

Tokyo, Sept. 28.

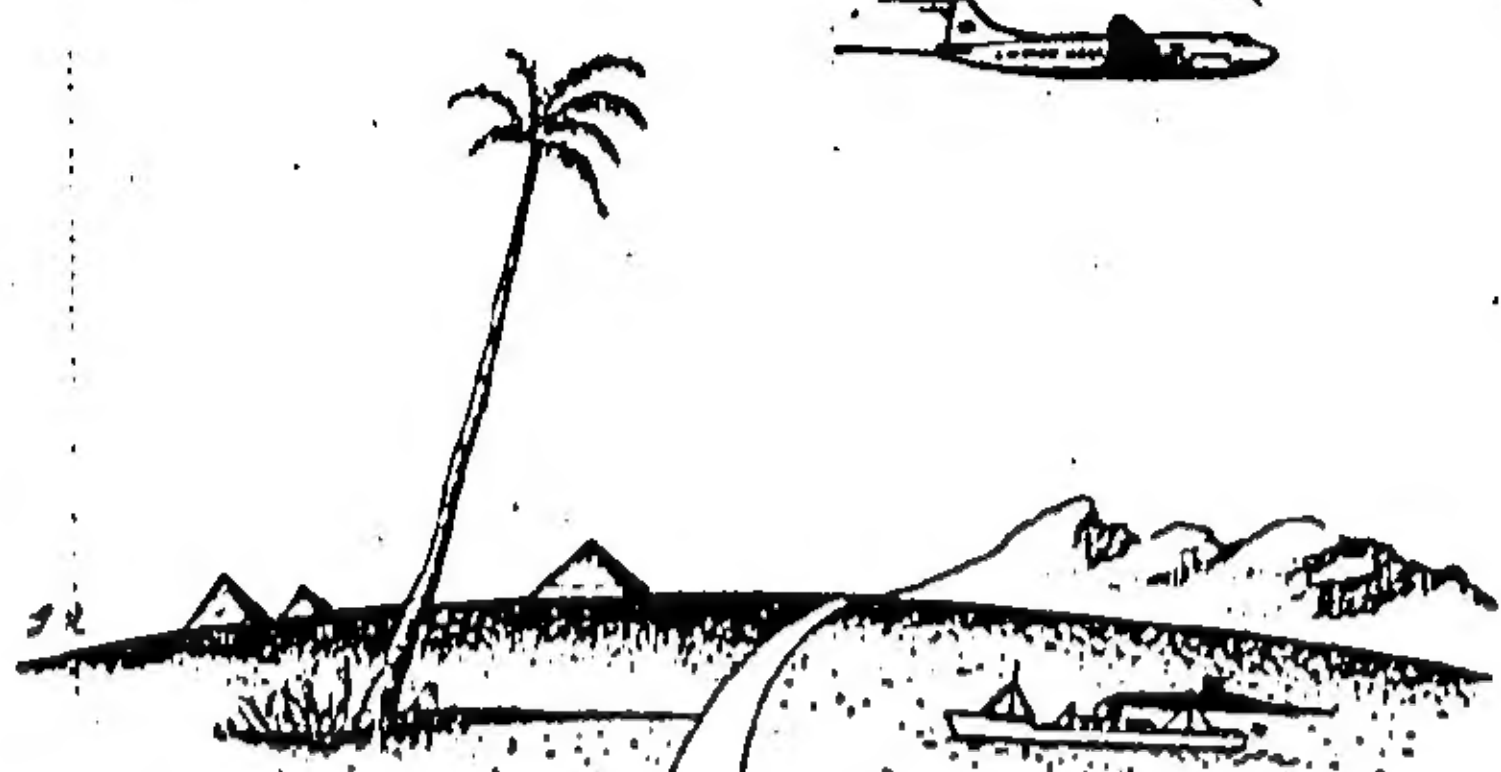

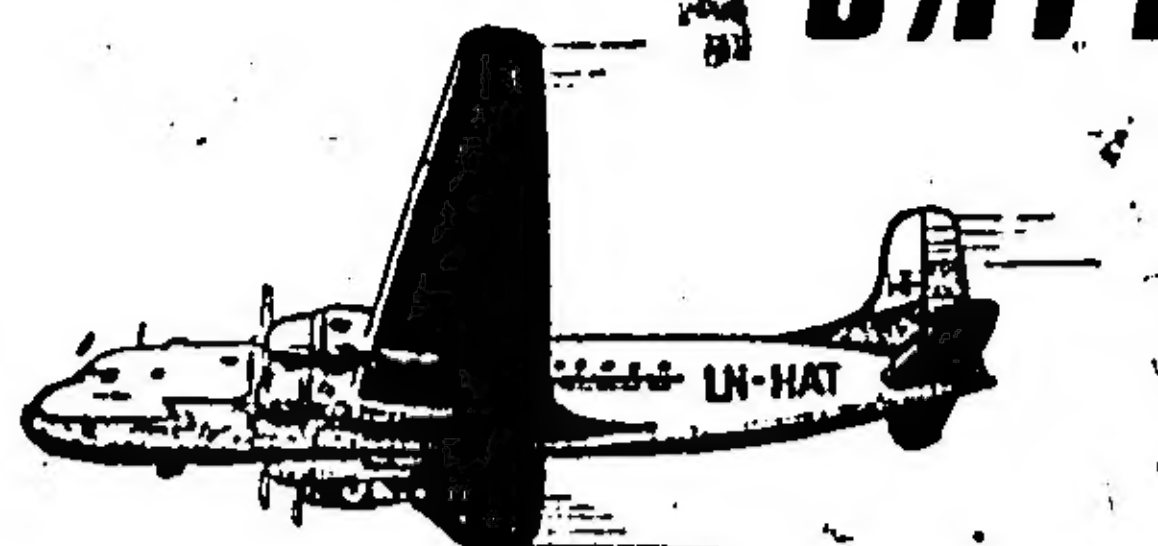

Japanese police in six prefectures in the Kanto area were alerted today to track down "Boss" Ken Sekine, Tokyo gang leader, who has been in hiding for over two months.

Sekine, 50, is believed to be hiding out with a 38-year-old geisha girl, Nobusah. Thirteen ringleaders of Sekine's organisation have been arrested by the Japanese police, according to the Kyodo news agency, in the hope they will lead the police to Sekine's hideout.

Strike
Meanwhile, in Tokyo, about three thousand workers of the Hitachi works, one of the largest machinery manufacturing corporations in Japan, struck today for wage adjustments in the company's plants throughout Japan. The workers want a deficit covering fund of 2,000 yen per member of each worker's family. The management offered 500 yen per worker to be paid piecemeal. This was turned down by the workers—United Press.

BITTER GROMYKO ATTACK ON U.S. POLICY IN GREECE

"Collapse Of The United Nations"

Lake Success, Sept. 28.
Russia today accused the United States of attempting to justify armed American intervention in Greece and declared the United States was using the Greek question to undermine the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko told the Assembly's 55-nation Political Committee in a bitter 66-minute attack on American "interference" that the United States action "might cause the collapse of the United Nations."

Gromyko, proposing United Nations control of the United States loan to the Greek Government, urged the establishment of a special United Nations Commission to insure that "foreign economic aid to Greece is used only in the interests of the Greek people." The United States now wants the Assembly to protect threats against Greece's territorial integrity.

"How can one explain the United States demand when those threats to independence have their real origin in the United States? Its intention is to divert public opinion from the real situation in Greece."

"New War"

Gromyko said the new Greek Government is attempting to place responsibility for the border dispute at the doors of its neighbors in an "attempt to create the true responsibility," and charged that the United States supported a Fascist clique in Greece which is "hatching plans for a new war at the moment when the peoples, who just have gone through a terrible war, are attempting to liquidate the consequences of that war."

Gromyko's speech was actually a carbon copy of all the accusations he has hurled against the United States, Britain and Greece in lengthy "council debates."

Earlier Poland assailed the Marshall plan programme drafted at Paris as "inadequate" and harmful to UN prestige and effectiveness. Polish delegate Lange told the Economic and Financial Committee that the 16 nations participants in the Marshall plan "constitute no economic entity and have been artificially and haphazardly put together."

The whole plan, he declared, was "an unstable arrangement." Lange demanded that the United Nations condemn the Marshall plan for European economic recovery and called on all members to refuse to participate in any economic programme set up outside the United Nations.

Indivisible

Lange warned that "prosperity and peace is indivisible."

THREE ZONES TO MERGE

London, Sept. 23.
French representatives tentatively have told the United States and Britain that France will merge her zone of Germany with their combined zones after the November meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council, authoritative diplomatic sources said.

These sources, representing two of the governments concerned, predicted that one of the first major sequels to this move would be that the United States and Britain would back a French request, said to be imminent, for the political and economic incorporation of the coal-rich German Saar with France.—Associated Press.

Copenhagen, Sept. 27.
The Danish National Bank today agreed that travellers would be allowed to carry only 25 Kroner when they leave the country against the previous allowance of 200 Kroner. All Danes resident abroad will be allowed to carry 100 Kroner.—Reuter.

HUSBANDS TO SEE MOLOTOV

London, Sept. 27.
The 13 British husbands whose Soviet wives were refused permission to leave Russia, are planning to see Molotov at the Foreign Ministers' conference in London in November.

One of the husbands, Alfred Hill of Clapham, London, said today that the wife of a Canadian diplomat had petitioned for a divorce because permission to join him had been refused seven times. This made absolutely "no difference" to her British husband's attitude.—Reuter.

Albanian Flight Of Fancy

Moscow, Sept. 27.
The Albanian Public Prosecutor, M. Joseph Pashko, demanded the death sentence for 19 defendants and various terms of imprisonment for the remaining defendants accused before a military court in Tirana of conspiracy, treachery and sabotage. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported from Tirana today.

He said that members of the British and American legations in Tirana had "materially and morally encouraged saboteurs towards the destruction of Albanian industry" and that the trial had helped to establish the fact that the British and American Governments were hostile towards Albania.

All the defendants, M. Pashko said, had been intimately connected with enemy invaders during the war. They had supplied foreigners with economic, military and political intelligence and had made preparations for Anglo-American forces to land in Albania "in order to deprive the people of their authority."—Reuter.

World Police To Carry Out Decisions Of U.N.?

Lake Success, Sept. 28.
The United Nations debate on Greece and Palestine strongly indicates that the world organization is beginning to run up against problems which eventually may require the use of some sort of police force for their solution.

Although the organization and direction of any such force is supposed to be the task of the veto-blocked Security Council, several delegations are reported to be studying the possibility that the General Assembly might be able in an emergency to provide a substitute arrangement.

This would be in line with the policy of the western nations—being developed against Russian opposition—to have the Assembly use its wide powers of recommendation and moral pressure to make up for the general assembly's failure of the Security Council.

One possibility that is known to have received study by some Western delegations—reportedly including the United States—would be for the Assembly to invite member nations willing and able to do so to contribute forces to help carry out the United Nations policies expressly in the interests of international peace and security.

Greece

In the case of Greece, if other measures fail, one thing the Assembly might then do, assuming the use of force appeared necessary, would be to call on member nations to help protect Greece.

U.S. DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS

Washington, Sept. 28.
Among 38 newly-appointed members of the Foreign Service commissioned as vice-consuls and diplomatic secretaries were: Robert B. Dreesen to Thwa, China; Richard A. Elison to Yokohama; Norman Britton Hanah to Shanghai; Thomas H. Murfin to Tokyo; and Richard M. McCarthy to Peking.—Associated Press.

REFUSED JOB

Berno, Sept. 28.
Dr. Walter Stucki, who led the Swiss delegation to the 16-nation Economic Conference in Paris, said here today that he had declined nomination as a candidate for the Governorship of the Free Territory of Trieste. He stated that he had been approached about the candidature some time ago. He gave no reason for his refusal.—Associated Press.

Threat Of New Low In Rations

London, Sept. 28.
Europe and Asia face a threat of lower rations than at any time since the war, unless some vaster effort is made by the producing countries, Lord Horder, personal physician to the King and one of the world's outstanding dieticians, said today.

Lord Horder, just returned from the Geneva Conference of the Food and Agricultural Organization, is chairman of the Standing Committee on nutrition. "The outlook for the people of the deficit countries, many of whom have suffered under nourishment over a period of years, is pretty grim," he said. "Thirty-eight million metric tons of bread grains imports will be needed by the deficit countries to continue even the very low cereal rations of the past year crop."

"But only 20,000,000 tons at the most will be available for export from the surplus producing countries, unless extraordinary new efforts are made."—Reuter.

RELIEF FOR JAP FLOOD VICTIMS

Tokyo, Sept. 28.
SCAF yesterday announced its approval of the Japanese Government's application for distributing 10,000 metric tons of imported food reserves in eight Prefectures for the relief of flood victims.

The announcement said Eight Army Military Government units will supervise the distribution.

Meanwhile, Japanese official circles commenting on the activities of private buyers who have arrived in Japan since the reopening of limited free trade, characterized purchases so far, totalling about $2,000,000, as a "mere drop in the bucket."

They pointed out that the amount was equivalent to the cost of importing two shiploads of wheat while the present schedule calls for 200 shiploads.—United Press.

U.S. SOLDIERS FREED AT TRIESTE

Belgrade, Sept. 28.
The three United States soldiers arrested at the Trieste frontier on Monday were released on Friday night.

The United States Embassy has forwarded a note to the Yugoslav Foreign Minister requesting information on the incident. The Foreign Office announced that an apology had been tendered to the American Ambassador, Cavendish Cannon, following a conference by Cannon with Assistant Foreign Minister Vladimir Velebit.—Associated Press.

Hour-Long Earthquake Recorded In 'Frisco

San Francisco, Sept. 28.
An hour-long major earthquake was recorded on United States seismographs today, with conflicting reports placing the epicentre from the Carolinas to the North Pacific, with one observation locating the quake between Formosa and Japan.

Instruments at United States colleges began recording vibrations between 8 a.m. and 8:15 P.M. while the depth of the tremor was variously reported from 70 to 200 miles beneath the earth's surface.

Rev. Joseph V. Downey, seismologist at Regis College, Denver, Colorado, recorded the first tremor at 8:01 and placed the shock in the East China Sea area. He calculated that the shock was located 6,900 miles from Denver, describing it as a "very deep" quake, possibly at a depth of 200 miles or more.

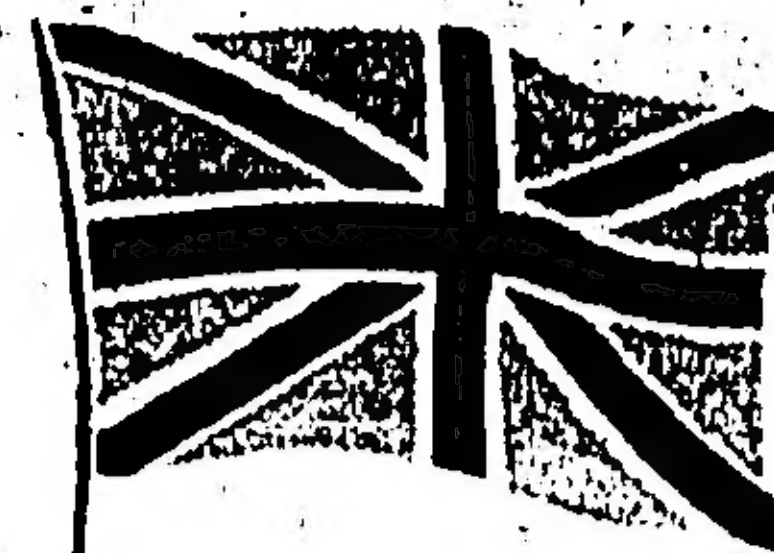

Rev. Downey said 18 minutes were required for the shock to pass through the earth's surface.

A coast geodetic survey, at San Francisco, recorded an "outstanding" quake beginning at 8:15 a.m. HST, and estimated it was 5,000 miles distant in an undetermined direction.

Fordham University in New York reported "relatively insignificant" vibrations, placing the earthquake, probably in the Carolinas. Two shocks were recorded by Fordham, at 12:18 and 12:21 EDT.

The California Institute of Technology seismograph at Pasadena, California, recorded two quakes, 8:15 and 8:25 a.m. PST, locating the shocks 6,100 miles to the northwest with the possibility that they hit the Northern Japanese islands or somewhere in the Aleutians.

The University of California at Berkeley similarly heard a "strong" quake beginning at 8:15 a.m. PST.—United Press.

"PAY AS YOU GO" SCHEME AS PART OF Replenishing U.S. Resources

Washington, Sept. 27. The State Department has under consideration a proposal that western European nations be made to pay as they go for United States "dollar aid" by replenishing U.S. natural resources. The proposal was made by Sen. William Knowland, who described it as an "adjunct" to the Marshall Plan.

New Pipeline In Arabia

Washington, Sept. 28. The Commerce Department last night authorized the export of 20,000 tons of steel to start a pipeline linking Saudi Arabian oil fields with the Mediterranean. The 1,140-mile conduit, designed to move 300,000 barrels of crude oil a day, will be built by the Trans-Arabian Pipeline Company, an American concern. It will run from Saudi Arabia, through Transjordan, Syria and Lebanon to the Mediterranean. The Department said the line is expected to be completed in 1949 and will require 300,000 tons of steel. There was no comment on the policy to be followed on further steel requirements for the project.—Associated Press.

HANNEGAN TO RESIGN

Washington, Sept. 28. U.S. WARNING OF INFLATION DANGER

New York, Sept. 28. Mr. Preston Delano, Currency Controller, told the State Bank Convention that the United States is "in the full swing of post-war inflation, which is severe and dangerous." Mr. Delano urged the banks to cut loans voluntarily and thereby combat inflation. The New York press today forecast further increases in the price of many commodities, notably clothing and sugar, and suggested government benefits for farmers to assure bigger crops to meet European deficiencies.—Reuters.

Geneva, Sept. 27. More than half of the bilateral tariff negotiations undertaken at the International Trade Conference here have been completed.

The deadlock between the British Commonwealth and the United States continues. Other countries have been going ahead with their talks, but the practical effect of them is expected to be slight unless an Anglo-American agreement is reached.

NEW DIESEL FISHING JUNK TRIED OUT

Under the auspices of the Hong Kong Fisheries Department, eight consecutive trial runs were made over the week-end by the new diesel-engined fishing junk, forerunner of the Colony's future motorised fishing fleet.

Over a measured route, the junk averaged eight knots which was considered satisfactory since the full power of the diesel engine was not developed. Vibration was negligible.

Owned by Mr. Lai Kwong-chai, the 600-piul capacity junk was built in 1940 in Hong Kong. Last year a used motor-car engine was installed to power the junk but this proved a failure since the engine was not suited for this particular type of craft.

Experiments

After several other experiments in providing motor power for junks, the Hong Kong Fisheries concluded that the services of an experienced naval architect should be obtained to fit the junk with a suitable type of engine.

As a result, Mr. T. L. Paget, naval engine designer was appointed.

Mr. Paget was responsible for the installation of the propeller and propeller shaft, stern tube and bearing, etc., in Mr. Lai's fishing junk which is now the "talk of the town" in the Shaukiwan district.

During the war, Mr. Paget was Chief Naval Architect of Preliminary General Arrangements of the United States Maritime Commission in Washington.

The engine installed in the junk is a Cummins 130-horsepower diesel motor. It will enable the junk to cut down considerably on the trip to and from the fishing grounds.

The ordinary fishing junk can make use of only 20 days each of seven months in a year—October to May.

With a diesel engine installed it will be able to make use of 25 days of each of the seven months.

The Hong Kong Fisheries are doing their best to encourage other fishermen to instal similar engines.

Three-Minute Quake Shakes Foochow

Shanghai, Sept. 20.

Central News reported today a three-minute earthquake shook Foochow shortly after 0100. No damage was reported.

Amoy also felt the shock at the same time.—Associated Press.

POLISH ATTACK ON MARSHALL PLAN

Lake Success, Sept. 27.

Poland today asked the United Nations to condemn the Marshall aid plan for Europe and insist that any machinery for European reconstruction should be kept within the framework of the United Nations.

Poland's Dr. Lange presented to the United Nations Economic Committee a resolution stating: "The General Assembly calls upon all member states to carry out all General Assembly recommendations on economic and social matters and make use of the machinery of the United Nations in settling fundamental international economic problems."

The member states are advised not to establish for such purposes any machinery outside the United Nations as this tends to reflect unfavourably on the authority of the United Nations and on its successful operations.—Reuter.

SOVIET TO JOIN ECONOMIC TALKS

Berlin, Sept. 27.

The British-licensed news agency DPD reported today that the Russian zone of Germany for the first time will be represented at the bi-zonal economic headquarters at Minden in the British zone.

The agency said the Russians will send as observer Hans Joachim Schacht, an official of the Inter-Zonal and Foreign Trade Section of the Russian central administration.

The DPD also reported today that its reporter, Bernhard Schulz, has been detained by the Russians at Potsdam on charges of gathering statistics of the Russian zone for his agency without proper authorisation.

The dispatch said Soviet officials informed the agency that its efforts at obtaining his release were "useless"—United Press.

WHY WAS THE PLANE OVER CHANGCHUN?

Shanghai, Sept. 28.

It was officially announced today that First Lt. Robert Walters, of the U.S. Army, crashed landed a L-5 liaison plane at Changchun airport on Friday.

The plane was based at Tsing-tao but was not a naval plane as was previously announced. The pilot was not hurt.

No explanation was given as to what a United States army plane was doing in the vicinity of the Manchurian capital.—United Press.

The closest game in the First Division of the Football League was on the Club ground when St. Joseph's beat Eastern by 4 goals to 3. Chinese Athletic beat Royal Air Force, who had scored first. At Sookunpo, Devons overwhelmed Kwong Wah by 10 goals to 1.

The games in the Second Division were more evenly contested and some keen football witnessed. St. Joseph's did well to beat Taikoo after being in arrears at the interval, while at Sookunpo South China put up a great fight against Royal Artillery and lost by the odd goal in five.

Shanghai, Sept. 28.
Pressing eagerly forward from Hwangshankwan under the cover of a squadron of bombing and strafing planes, Nationalist forces last night captured Lungkou, the important Communists port 40 miles west of Chefoo in North Eastern Shantung Province, semi-official despatches from Tsingtao reported today.

A high military source revealed today that additional air units have been thrown into "the battle for Chetoo" and that they are carrying out day and night attacks on fleeing Communist remnants to prevent them from reorstrong defence works along both sides of the Peiping-Mukden railway—through which the Nationalists have been pouring reinforcements into Manchuria in the past few weeks—in preparation for the big battle ahead.

The experiment of carrying the King's Mail from Dyce airport, Aberdeen, to Balmoral Castle by a helicopter during the King's stay, was described in official circles as an outstanding success.
